NEWS TO TRAVEL BY

Essential Philadelphia

School's out, so naturally, our thoughts turn to summer-time diversions. Luckily, we don't have to go far to enjoy all that the season has to offer. The Philadelphia International Festival of the Arts returns with tons of jaw-dropping acts like a 24-hour, nonstop show. Not sure what to see? Refer to our top picks on page 8. June also highlights Philly Beer Week, a popular time in this brew-loving town. We show you how to make the most of it on page 10. Tight on time? Here's a quick guide to one of the city's most popular family-friendly riverside attractions.

90 MINUTES IN: Independence Seaport Museum

This site founded by J. Welles Henderson has been offering an insightful look at the region's waterways since 1960, when it was known as the Philadelphia Maritime Museum. In 1995, the museum took its current name and moved to its current location at Penn's Landing on the Delaware Waterfront.

Start inside at the exhibition "Patriots and Pirates," which tells the story of the U.S. Navy (and its encounters with buccaneers). From here, check out key artifacts, like the bridge from the U.S.S. Lawrence, which was built in Camden, New Jersey, just across the river. For something a little more hands-on, climb aboard Diligence, a 102-foot full-size model of the 1797 original schooner, and glimpse 18th-century life at sea.

Outside, you'll find the Cruiser Olympia and Submarine Becuna (pictured), National Historic Landmark ships that have been berthed at the museum since 1996.

Launched in 1892, the Cruiser Olympia is the oldest surviving American naval warship from its era and the oldest floating steel warship. It served as Commodore Dewey's flagship when he won the Battle of Manila Bay in the Spanish-American War.

In her heyday, the Submarine Becuna (aka "Becky"), a WWII and Cold War-era submarine, patrolled the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, sinking 3.5 Japanese merchant ships and "eavesdropping" on Soviet submarines.

Correction: The Family Fun Guide incorrectly lists information for the museum. Admission prices are $17; seniors/students/military $12; children under 3 free. Historic ships are open Th-Sa, 10 am-8 pm through Labor Day.

How to Eat Like a Local

PRESENTED BY PAT'S KING OF STEAKS

● No visit to Philadelphia would be complete without a visit to the birthplace of the cheese steak sandwich, Pat's King of Steaks®. Sure, there are lots of places in Philly to get a cheesesteak, but only Pat's gives you the authentic experience that locals have lined up for since 1930.

"WHIZ WIT"

How to Order Like a Local

DON'T SAY DO SAY

Good afternoon, I would like the sandwich that you are most famous for, the one with steak and Cheez Whiz and onions. Can I please have one of those?

Whiz Wit

Would it be at all possible to have that without onions?

Whiz Wit-Out

I'll take a cheesesteak, without the cheese, but with onions.

Plain Wit

On second thought, no onions.

Plain Wit-Out

Hmmm...I'd like a cheesesteak with...um, hmmm...which cheese do I want?

"Provolone Wit" or "Provolone Wit-Out" or "American Wit" or "American Wit-Out" or "Pizza Wit" or "Pizza Wit-Out"

Chef and third generation Pat's owner Frankie Oliveri, as seen on Food Network, Travel Channel, Spike and more.

● Want mushrooms and/or peppers? Want to try our Roast Pork, Hot Dogs or Fish Cakes? Just ask any way you want! Pay with cash, grab your sandwich, then step to the other window for fries and drinks. Got it? Great! You're now an honorary local. See you at Pat's!

The Philadelphia International Festival of the Arts returns with its signature high-flying acts.

BY AMY GORDON

Taylor Mac: A 24-Decade History of Popular Music

Wild & Wonderful

The Philadelphia International Festival of the Arts (PIFA) presents works so unique and over the top that the festival happens only once every two years. This year doesn't disappoint. Through June 10, The Kimmel Center production showcases more than 50 events that defy characterization. Don't miss these top picks.

TAYLOR MAC: A 24-DECADE HISTORY OF POPULAR MUSIC

The MacArthur "genius grant" recipient explores 240 years of history in a 24-hour, decade-by-decade tour de force performance with more than 200 local performers, ranging from a marching band to burlesque dancers. The audience even gets era-specific foods, courtesy of Garces Catering.

CRISTAL PALACE

PIFA brings spectacles audiences won't see anywhere else, like this act set in Fairmount Park. This year, the high-flying event brings back Transe Express, the renowned street artist troupe that dazzled onlookers during PIFA 2011 by playing music and performing feats while suspended in the air. This time, the awe-inspiring aerialists create a human chandelier towering high above the crowd (opposite). Meanwhile, back on solid ground, the crowd is encouraged to dance and move around the immersive installation.

THE PLANETS

In this multi-sensory, mind-expanding experience, the Jazz Orchestra of Philadelphia performs a world-premiere arrangement (with the help of a 19-year-old local musician) of Gustav Holst's "The Planets." The music is accompanied by a mesmerizing film from NASA and Jet Propulsion Laboratories presenting unforgettable footage of our solar system, planet by planet, as seen from space.

DOGGIE HAMLET

Thirty sheep, five dancers and a trio of dogs compose the cast of this thought-provoking performance, set outdoors at the Belmont Plateau in Fairmount Park, where the audience sits on bales of hay. Through dance, music, living props and visual elements, the production examines the relationship between the city of Philadelphia and the surrounding agricultural land that supports it. The hour-long piece has three performances throughout PIFA.

PIFA STREET FAIR

A hallmark of the arts festival, the free block party once again spills out across Broad Street from City Hall to South Street, with carnival-style rides, some of Philly's favorite food vendors, and loads of fun taking full advantage of longer daytime hours this time of year.

PHILLY BEER WEEK

In a city where founding fathers gathered in local pubs some 300 years ago after a long day of hashing out the birth of this nation, it's no wonder that Philadelphia is home to one of the largest and most diverse beer cultures around. From June 1 to 10, Philly becomes the ultimate place to raise a pint thanks to Philly Beer Week. During this annual suds-soaked celebration, hundreds of events—including meet-the-brewer nights, themed tours and even beer dinners—draw the world's top brewers and tipplers. Philly Beer Week is the biggest beer festival of its kind, showcasing the talent of local breweries like Yards, Victory, Dock Street, Free Will Brewing Company and so many more. Not in town for the festivities? No need to fret. Every neighborhood in this brew-loving town is home to remarkable beer halls, ensuring there's always somewhere welcoming to stop in for lip-smacking suds, local color and plenty of that Philly Brotherly Love. See right for a few of our favorite watering holes. See all beer week events at phillylovesbeer.org

Hop to It

With passionate drinkers, dedicated bar owners, smart importers and upstart breweries, Philly is one of the best beer cities in the country. Here, a few top places to quench your thirst.

- FRANKFORD HALL Stephen Starr recalls a traditional German "biergarten" but with a modern spin. Counter service, long communal tables and alfresco ping-pong create a lively atmosphere, with huge steins of traditional German and craft beers. Fill up on casual fare like schnitzel and bratwurst. 1210 Frankford Ave., 215.634.3338, frankfordhall.com

Independence Beer Garden

- INDEPENDENCE BEER GARDEN This sprawling outdoor space overlooks the Liberty Bell Center and Independence National Historical Park. Two bars pour local and domestic craft brews with a menu offering snacks and plates, from seasoned popcorn to mahi-mahi tacos and fried chicken. 100 S. Independence Mall West, 215.922.7100, phlbeergarden.com

The two come together perfectly here. With a beer list that reads like a phone book, there's something here for everyone at this casual, centrally located local favorite. 263 S. 15th St., 215.545.4101, josepistolas.com

- MONK'S CAFE It's worth the wait for a seat at this Center City hotspot; the beer selection is one of the best in America. Order a pot of mussels and a beer you've never heard of—you won't be disappointed. 264 S. 16th St., 215.545.7005, monkscafe.com

Standard Tap

- JOSE PISTOLA'S Few things are more comforting than great beer and well-made Mexican food.

- STANDARD TAP From the all-local beer list featuring standout breweries like Stoudt's and Tröegs, to its scrumptious menu (duck confit salad), this Northern Liberties joint offers a quintessential Philly gastropub experience. 901 N. Second St., 215.238.0630, standardtap.com

UNIQUE TRAVEL RECOMMENDATIONS, FIT TO MATCH YOUR PERSONAL STYLE.
 FIND THE CITY CURATED FOR YOU AT WHERETRAVELER.COM/PHILADELPHIA

Zen Seekers

Founded in 1814 to collect common materials, (1) The Athenaeum of Philadelphia now has collections of books, architectural drawings, photographs and historic objects that attract architects, interior designers and museum curators. Let your inner bookworm out and find some peace in a piece of history. Feel more relaxed outdoors? (2) Bartram's Garden is a 45-acre National Historic Landmark that is ideal for soaking in the seasons. Stroll around the gardens, kayak along the river or discover the surrounding historic buildings. Plus, the gardens feature a great view of the skyline. If pampering is more your thing, relax the old fashioned way—at a spa. (3) Rescue Spa has a wide range of treatments that are sure to leave you feeling relaxed and refreshed.

Guys

For a top-notch guys' night out, gather your buddies and head to (1) Frankford Hall. The bustling outdoor German-style beer garden has ping-pong tables, craft beer and great food, making for a great time any time you visit. Auto enthusiasts get their hearts racing at the (2) Simeone Foundation Automotive Museum. Here, the spirit of motor competition permeates the space, which is full of vintage and rare vehicles on display. Even better? Check the event schedule online and visit when pristine specimens are taken out for a spin. Don't forget to snap some Instagram pics. If the guys just want to chill, head to (3) Ashton Cigar Bar. With more than 200 varieties of stogies, a bar to boot and a swanky atmosphere, Ashton makes a great spot for catching up with pals.

LGBTQ Crowd

Craving Mexican food? Look no further than (1) Lolita. This trendy bar and restaurant is open until late and dishes out unique tacos that pair well with tasty margaritas. Try the Cholula fried chicken tacos and the blood orange margarita (thank us later). With over 20 years of experience, (2) Andre Richard Salon has some of the best stylists in the city. Located right in the Gayborhood, the salon's experts specialize in blowouts, balayage and cuts, but they can touch up an existing style or create a whole new look. As you stroll through the Gayborhood, be sure to pop into (3) Carre D'Artistes. This haven of art along 13th Street is full of inspiring pieces by artists from around the world. With so many options, you're likely to find something special to take home.
